REGION 'ROUND.

A Budget of Interesting Articles on all Topics.

Angelo Volpi was fatally shot by Lewis Hoor while eating apples on the latter's farm near Shenandoah. Hoor was arrested and lodged in jail.

Joseph, the 16 year old son of Thomas O'Connor, of Heckscherville, died at noon yesterday, from a malignant form of diphtheria. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning.

The Pottsville school board decided last night that mechanical drawing, short hand and typewriting should be added to the curriculum of the Commercial school.

Nicholas Weaver, one of the oldest and best known of the Lehigh Valley railroad engineers, died at his home in Mauch Chunk yesterday.

Engine 577, a dirt-burner, built by the Lehigh Valley R.R. Company at Weatherly, recently handled 101 gondola cars equal to 333 ordinary six ton coal cars from Bethlehem to Packerton in three hours. This is the greatest haul yet recorded on the Lehigh division.

The Silver Brook Coal Company is having a large breaker built in the vicinity of Old Silver Brook on a tract of land leased from the Philadelphia and Reading Company. There are two good veins of coal in that vicinity to be mined and to this will require many years of labor.

Judge Rockefeller, at Sunbury, gave notice that hereafter applicants for naturalization would be compelled to have a general knowledge of the constitution of the United States. Good for Judge Rockefeller.

A Hungarian employed at the Hickory Ridge colliery, Shamokin, had an arm torn off and his side lacerated by the explosion of a piece of dynamite Saturday evening. The man had it in his pocket and as he was walking home tripped and fell on a stone.

The Grand Jury found a true bill, yesterday, against Tallie Morgans, editor of the People, a Shenandoah prohibition organ, charged by Charles E. Steel, with libel. Mr. Steel, who is State Secretary of the Good Templars, was charged by Morgans with supplying the citizens of Minersville with beer at a banquet and reception given in his honor, after his return from Europe.

Two sisters of Ida Whitner, who was killed on the "Highlands" at Pottsville Monday night, when informed of the circumstances of their sister's death and her life of shame, refused to have anything to do with the disposition of the remains. They reluctantly viewed the body and shortly after left for their homes at Newtown and Donaldson. The body was taken to the almshouse cemetery, where it was buried.

Eighteen hundred dollars is looked upon as a large sum for the borough of Hazleton to pay its superintendent of public schools. The board of directors are not compelled to pay the superintendent the $300 increase unless it seems fit to do so, nor is Supt. Harman (fortunately for himself) compelled to continue in the service for any less. The work of a school superintendent is not to be measured by the work of a book-keeper. These men have a certain amount of labor to perform daily. The school superintendent, first of all, spends years at school and thousands of dollars to fit himself for the place, and must meet all emergencies, oftentimes requiring his entire attention from early morning until late at night.—Hazleton Standard.

THINK HE WAS MURDERED.

The Long Branch Boy's Remains at Last Identified By His Sisters.

LONG BRANCH, Sep. 10.—The body of the young man who was found hanging by the neck from the painter of a fishing boat on the beach Sunday, August 16, has been identified as that of George Will, a German, 17 years old, of New York.

His sisters Regina and Hannah Will, who live with another brother named John at 79 Market street, Newark, identified the effects of the dead youth as those of their brother George. They were of opinion that their brother had been murdered, but all the circumstances point to suicide.

George Will was an orphan and worked in a baker's shop in New York. For two weeks before his death he occupied a furnished room at 138 East Eighty-seventh street.

Ate Poisonous Berries and Died.

STONEHAM, Mass., Sep. 10.—While on a visit to her nephew here Miss Catherine Cook, aged 75, and Miss Jane C. Cook, aged 73, of Charlestown, Mass., took a stroll in the woods. They came across a plant resembling an elderberry plant and both partook quite freely of the root and bark. They became very ill shortly after and died last evening. Another woman ate some of the root and became very ill but it is thought she will recover.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sep. 10.—A strike of freight conductors on the Nashville & Decatur division of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has occurred, owing to the company's declining to restate a man who was discharged for refusing to take out his train.
